

SATURDAY EVENING, JUNE 13, 1857.

Two Women Yoked to a Plow.—During last week a very unusual sight attracted the attention of the railway passengers while the trains were passing through Bishopstow Moss. It was that of two females yoked to a plow, which was guided by an ungallant male, who held the stilt. The only way of accounting for this eccentric proceeding is the suggestion that the land, which is newly reclaimed, is too tight to admit of horses being employed.

"Well, neighbor, what's the most Christian news this morning?" said a gentleman to his friend. "I have just bought a barrel of flour for a poor woman." "Just like you! Who is it that you have made happy by your charity time?" "My wife!"

man, well stocked, and just because I am a lone woman in the world, his relations are going to throw me out of all but my thyroid. Now Lawyer—let me tell you, some time ago, that if there was an heir, I would take it all, and I should be his guardian." "How long since your husband died?" asked the judge. "About thirteen months," was the reply—and "What is the child?" "Two weeks," was the answer. "I am afraid this case is beyond my jurisdiction," said the judge; "you had better go back to Squire—". "But," said the woman, "your Probate Court can't establish an heir, can it?" "It could," said the judge. "What is it you go for?" The woman left the Judge empowered by the stunning sentence pronounced in this conviction.—Detroit Advertiser.

TRUNKS, BONNET BOXES, AND VALISES. GREAT BARGAINS IN TRUNKS AT J. H. McCleary's NATIONAL TRUNK EMPORIUM, Corner Main and Fourth sts., Louisville, Ky.

I would respectfully invite the attention of merchants and others visiting the city to my large and elegant assortment of TRUNKS, which I am prepared to offer at least twenty-five per cent. lower than any other establishment in the city. My stock embraces a great variety of Trunks than I keep by any other house in the Western country. Many of the styles are entirely new and cannot fail to please those in want of a Trunk both as regards price and quality. The many advantages which I possess over the other houses in the city, such as manufacturing my own boxes, finishing my own leather, importing my own material, and enabling me to offer my trunks at much lower prices than any other establishment either in this city or Cincinnati. Merchants and others will be consulting their own interests by giving me a call before making their purchases. Orders promptly attended to. [may 26 d&w&ad&bl]

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.

DR. CHERMAN'S PILLS.—The combination of ingredients in these pills are the result of a long and extensive practice. They are mild in their operation, and certain in correcting all irregularities, painful menstruation, removing all obstructions, whether from cold or otherwise, headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, and disturbed sleep, which always arise from interruption of nature, they can be successfully used as a preventative. These should never be taken during pregnancy, as they would cause miscarriage. Warranted purely vegetable free from anything injurious to life or health. Explicit directions, which should be read, accompany each box. Price $1. RAYMOND & PATTEN, 74 Fourth street, wholesale and retail agents for Louisville. BOERHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS

THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR DYSPEPSIA, DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS, LIVER COMPLAINT, WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND, FEVER AND AGUE, And the various affections consequent upon a disordered STOMACH OR LIVER.

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Dependence, Costiveness, Bilious and Bloated Ribs, in all Nervous, Rheumatic, and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances, proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared strictly according to scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in its effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrills and quickens every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

NOTICE.—Whoever expects to find this beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak, and low spirited it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.

CAUTION.

The great popularity of this delicious Aroma has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

TO CONSUMPTIVE INVALIDS.

DR. FLOWER,

GRADUATE of the City University of New York, as well known as a lecturer to the Hygienic Institute, and

Hospital Physician, London, England, has taken

rooms on Fifth street, five doors from the Kentucky

School of Medicine, between Green and Walnut,

Louisville, Ky., where he may be consulted daily for

Consumption, Asthma, Loss of Voice, Bronchitis, Chronic

Cough, and Pulmonary Irritation, also for Dyspepsia

and Female Complaints, and other affections connected with or predisposing to Consumption, till June 20th, 1857.

Dr. Flower wishes it distinctly understood, that, although he considers Consumption a curable disease, and realizes it as such, he does not pretend to cure those who have neither lungs nor constitution left. He would also add that he is accustomed to tell those applying their real situation and none need wonder if he is unwilling to tam with those who are not prepared to undergo the treatment. A curative treatment will be of course only be undertaken in cases where there seems some chance of remedy. Where there is none, the treatment must be merely palliative.

The treatment employed is the breathing of Medicated

Vapors into the Lungs, thus producing an action at the very seat of disease, combined with constitutional remedy. As Dr. Flower has been consulted by all who intend to bring about a cure at once. For the last five years Dr. F.

has devoted his entire time to the treatment of the above disease.

No charge for consultation, by letter or otherwise, or a pamphlet explanatory of his treatment and which can be obtained at his room. Office hours from 9 to 5, daily.

Dr. King's Dispensary.

DR. A. KING, a practitioner of New York for the last thirty years, has opened a Dispensary on Market, bet.

First and Second streets, opposite the Graham House, Louisville, for the treatment of Private Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Syphilis, and all diseases of the skin and other dependent affections growing out of neglect or imperfect cure. His long experience and success enable him to act with confidence. All those who may confide their cases to him may rest assured of having the disease effectually cured and every vestige of the difficulty perfectly eradicated from their constitutions.

Strictest secrecy of old or recent date effectually cured in a few days by an operation which causes no pain. Where a stricture exists, a continual derangement of the whole constitution must ensue, a continuance of which will bring on a train of symptoms to be dreaded, and will undermine the constitution and cause premature old age.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.—Particular attention will be given to this disease and all the consequences growing out of it, brought on, in many cases, by the destructive habits of inconsiderate youth and excessive indulgence of the passions, which undermine the constitution, rendering the subject unfit for either business or society, and causing premature old age.

Persons abroad, by writing and stating their cases, with a few enclosed (post-paid), can have the medicine sent to their address, with necessary directions for using the same.

The strictest secrecy observed in all cases, and all bills paid by express, or by mail, from 9 o'clock in the morning till evening. [may 26 d&w&ad&bl]

DIED.

On the 10th inst., DANIEL S. LYBARGER, in the 44th year of his age.

Bedford, Pa., and New Orleans papers copy.

[For the Louisville Journal.]
 MESSRS. EDITORS: Your correspondent "T" has been induced to read Dr. Judd's Review. The consequence is, two very important admissions on his part. First, that Dr. Judd's standing, like Dr. Mackay's, was fair up to the time of his difficulty with the Secretary of the Bible Union. Second, that in the translation of a certain class of words (including baptizo and other controverted terms) the Bible Union has actually so far departed from its solemn pledge as to prescribe a rule to Immersionist Revisers, and another to non-Immersionist Revisers.

This latter admission is made so evasively, so ambiguously, so ambiguously, as at once to reveal the thorough character of the dodger, and the impracticability of the difficulty which he could not dodge. We shall number these admissions, and lay them by for future use. Their importance will appear in due time. We are encouraged now to proceed in quest of other admissions.

A single inquiry shall suffice at this time. Did the Bible Union engage, and does she still retain in her service as a reviser of the Holy Scriptures, a scholar who could and did, in sober discourse, write for English the words "masculinity," "femininity," "objectional," &c.?—the same who rendered the middle clause of 2 Tim. 4:2, "be on hand conscientiously and incontinently?" A distinct answer to the above question is called for.

P. S. It may be well enough sometimes to follow our Revision friends a little in their rambles. This, however, will not often be necessary, as his readers will soon get the hang of him. It grieves our friend greatly that the notice of Dr. Judd's Review was published anonymously. Now I do not want to inquire whether such notices are usually anonymous—a better answer is at hand. Not long since an anonymous report of a Revision speech by Dr. Everts was published with an express endorsement of the truthfulness of the speech, in which Dr. E. was made to say in substance, that the opponents of Revision were prompted, not by any love for the truth, but only by the meanest and basest motives that govern the human heart. Now, Messrs. Editors, demand of your correspondent "T" to state distinctly if he has never seen or heard anything of this anonymous revisionist notice of Dr. Everts's speech? Just here it is proper to add, what the public does not know, but ought to know, that Dr. Everts apologized to some of his anti-revisionist friends, complaining that Dr. Bell had done him injustice and placed him in a false position by that anonymous notice. I now appeal to every honorable-minded reader, of every party, to glance over the long list of blackguard epithets which my brief anonymous notice of Dr. Judd's Review has called forth, and determine for himself where they belong.

But a "respectable publisher," it seems, refused to publish my notice of Dr. Judd's Review. All I have to say is that a brief notice of the work in question was prepared and offered to each of the two papers, in which the revision discussions have heretofore been published. At the one office it was received and published; at the other, it was promptly and courteously received without question or objection of any kind. If the editor afterwards saw reason to change his purpose and withhold it from publication, I have no complaints to make. I have not the remotest suspicion that he intended to make himself a party in any way to my notice. But what does our lucid Revisionist mean when he says that a "respectable publisher" refused to publish the notice, &c.? Does he mean to disparage the notice and its author by exalting the respectability of the publisher who refused it over that of the publisher who received and published it? This is in fact a poor, meaningless flourish, a match to many others emanating from the same source, intended for those who read only for the sound of the words. If it has any meaning it is certainly a reflection on the Journal.

But we are told that Dr. Judd contended for a half cent, and the inference intended is that he is a bad man. This story, from the questionable source from which it comes, is most likely a sheer fabrication. But let it be a fact, and what then? The boatman may have been an enemy, or set on by an enemy—the half cent may, under the circumstances, have come to represent a principle, and, therefore, possess a value commensurate with that principle—be worth contending for, and, if necessary, dying for, just as the penny tax in the case of our revolutionary fathers, or the forbidden fruit in Paradise; or it may be that Dr. Judd is whimsically exact in trifles (as great and good men have often been known to be), and nobly generous in large sums. But Dr. Judd has a rich father-in-law, and yet has used the congregation which he formerly served. My observation is that rich fathers-in-law like remarkably well to see their poor sons-in-law able and willing to maintain themselves, and they are right. As to a congregation that promises to support a minister, and, being able, fails to do so—if he chooses to enforce his claim, I say, hands off, let him put them through. A dishonest man is bad enough; an dishonest congregation is too bad.

It seems that a certain person sent a very rude reply to an invitation of the late Revision Association in this city. I happen, Messrs. Editors, to be acquainted with the person alluded to, and I have his authority for saying, that if your correspondent will publish the invitation and the reply and leave them to make their own impressions, without note or comment, he on his part will keep silent with regard to them—he is not particular however.

Your correspondent closes with threats as to what he will do, thus and so—we shall see.
